Learning Russian

Depending on the program and the University, you may or may not be required to learn Russian. However, we strictly recommend that if you are going to study in Russia, you must learn Russian.

If you understand and speak Russian, you will be able to better communicate with the local people in Russia. Besides, it will also help you in developing accord with your fellow students from the country as well as the faculty members since the first language of the majority of the members will be Russian. Being proficient in Russia will also help you learn better in Russia.

To help students master the Russian language, preparatory courses are organized in Russian Universities. The first few classes of the program are organized in the English language. Later, the medium is switched to Russian.

Usually, within a year, students are able to develop well-working command over the new language.

Admission Process

Magno-Education is the exclusively authorized organization in Russia to facilitate academic admissions into universities of Russia.

To make it easier for the applicants to get admission to study in Russia, we help students explore their favorite programs in Russia, and choose the university that's the best fit for them. Once the University is selected, we proceed to the documentation process and apply for admission on behalf of the University.

Magno-Education services and support are not limited to secure admission for the students. We extend our help in making travel arrangements, helping students settle in the University, supporting students throughout the study programs in Russia, and beyond.

Once admission is confirmed, an invitation letter will issue and the student visa process will be initiated.

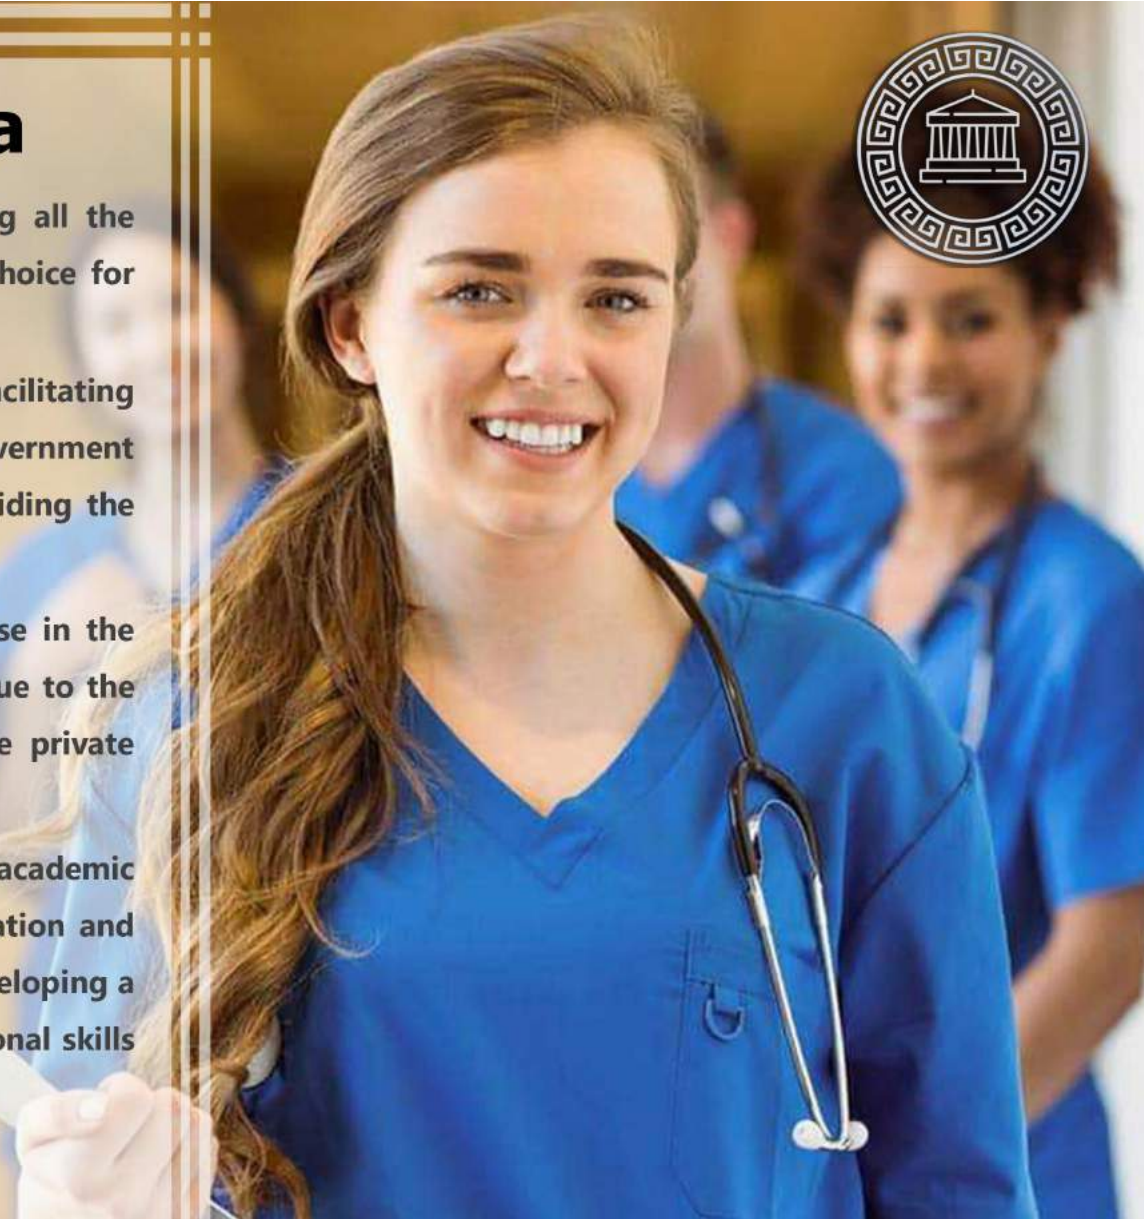

Medical Study In Russia

Russia has been a popular choice for medical studies among all the medical aspirants of the world. MBBS in Russia is a perfect choice for students seeking an affordable medical education abroad.

The country has several top government medical universities facilitating medical education for international students. These top government medical universities of Russia are globally renowned for providing the most affordable medical education of the best quality.

Over the past two decades, there has been a considerable rise in the number of students opting to study MBBS in Russia. This is due to the fact that Indian medical education has limited seats and the private medical universities are extravagant.

Medical studies in Russia are focused on building a strong academic foundation with a pragmatic approach towards medical education and research. The equipped classrooms and laboratories aids in developing a strong conceptual understanding and well developed professional skills among the students.

Scholarship In Russia

Russia is in the list of very few countries in the world that offer international students an opportunity to pursue higher education at the cost of the state.

Every year, the government of the Russian Federation offers “state-funded spots” to provide financial aid to international students and help them get admission to study in Russia. In 2019, 15,000 international students received government scholarships to get education in Russia.

Government scholarship includes the tuition fee for the entire duration of the program, maintenance allowance as well as the cost of University accommodation. If you win the scholarship, the only costs that you need to take care of are travel costs, living expenses, and the cost of your health insurance.

More information regarding financing your education in Russia and getting a scholarship can be found on the website of the Ministry of Science and Higher Education of the Russian Federation.

Student life In Russia

Russia is a huge country, and every region of the country has something special to offer to its students. While studying in Russia, beyond education, you will have much more to explore and enjoy. Throughout the year, Universities in Russia organize several events and extra-curricular activities, on-campus as well as off-campus. Besides joining classes, you can join a sports club of your choice, do participate in the next University play, or help fellow members organize and host the events; all of those activities provide so much fun along with the opportunities to develop new connections and evolve yourself in the international community.

Great music, theatre shows, delicious food, amazing sites, museums, cultural centers, and architecture are there in every part of Russia. Whatever city or town you go to study, make sure to take some time off from your studies and explore new places and cultures.

Most of the outlets, cafes, and restaurants offer discounts to students. Embrace your student privilege, occasionally go for shopping and dining, and experience something new at the special price for you.

Passport & Student Visa in Russia

All the students going to study in Russia must have a valid passport and Visa. 11 countries are exempted from Russian student visa requirements. Students from such countries can enter Russia with their passports and without a visa. However, a visa-free stay is limited to 90 days only. Therefore, it is the best approach to apply for a student visa from the very beginning.

The first student visa is issued with a validity period of three months. Before the expiry of the visa, you can apply for a visa extension. At every renewal, a one-year visa extension is given. Therefore, the visa-renewal process needs to be repeated every year until the completion of the program.

To apply for a student visa, you must first get an invitation to study in Russia. Once you are selected for a program, an invitation letter is issued either by the concerned university or by the concerned Ministry, depending on the selection process.

Student Migration Procedure in Russia

Besides the student visa, you also need to take care of the migration formalities. To live and study in Russia, you need to fill out a Migration Card and register with the Russian Migration Service.

Migration Forms are distributed on planes and are also available for free at the airport. Once you arrive in Russia, fill out the Migration Form and submit the following documents to the University:

- 1- Migration Form (original as well as a copy);
- 2- Passport (original as well as a copy); and
- 3- Visa (original as well as a copy).

To ensure timely completion of the migration process, submit these documents to the University's international office within three days of your arrival.

Once you submit your migration documents package to the University, it will take care of the rest of the process. The entire process to register with the Migration Service must be completed within seven days of arrival.
